Congratulations - Community Medical Center & Jefferson Community Health Center

There is no better illustration of the value that rural facilities provide to their communities than the annual identification and recognition of the top performing rural facilities. Each year, the rural hospitals are analyzed through the lens of the Hospital Strength INDEX, the industry's most comprehensive and objective assessment of rural hospital performance in the United States.

Amidst uncertainty, transition and strain, these top performers are excelling in managing risk, achieving higher quality, securing better outcomes, increasing patient satisfaction, and operating at a lower cost than their peers. These groups serve as a benchmark for other rural facilities as they strive to achieve similar results and provide a blueprint for successfully navigating the uncertainty of the new healthcare.

Congratulations to two of our clients - Community Medical Center in Falls City & Jefferson Community Health Center in Fairbury.

For the second year in a row, Community Medical Center was named to the prestigious list of top 100 Critical Access Hospitals in the nation by the National Rural Health association and the Chartis Center for Rural Health. Ryan Larsen, administrator for the facility. said, "It is again an honor, and I am very proud of our employees and medical staff, who work hard to make a difference every day. Recognition is nice, but our most important priority is our patients."

metroMAGAZINE Spring 2018

The Loziers and the Kotoucs know they've all been friends for decades and that the two men had become friends well before the couples were married. But they had to do a little calculating to figure out what year it was when Allan Lozier and John Kotouc were first introduced when serving together on the board of directors for Bellevue College (now Bellevue University). Lozier finally guessed that 1976 or 1977 was probably that auspicious year.

"That goes back a long time," Lozier said.

"40 years ago?" said Wende Kotouc, John Kotouc's wife.

The two couples converse in the manner one would expect from an easy and longstanding friendship. But the Loziers and Kotoucs are not only good friends, they're respected leaders who have collectively and individually made an impressive mark on the community.

American National Bank Winner of Corporate Diversity & Inclusion Award

We were honored to be recognized for the Corporate Diversity and Inclusion Award for our commitment to the community and supporting STEP-UP Omaha!

Jason Hansen, Senior VP at ANB, has served as Board Chairman for Urban League of Nebraska for three years. "My tenure as Board Chairman remains one of my most treasured honors. To be able to serve a truly incredible staff at the ULN that has produced such a material and quantifiable impact to our program participants in North Omaha and has had an indelible positive impact on both my professional and personal life. And while I've tried to be generous to the ULN – whether it be time, talent, or treasure – I can categorically state that I'm taking far more from the organization than I've given." said Jason. Iowa Mortgage Association Spotlight

Meggan Jensen, Mortgage Loan Officer

How did you get involved in the mortgage industry?

"I was approached by a former co-worker about an opportunity to work for a Mortgage Broker in Kansas City and began there in 2002."

What is the biggest challenge or opportunity you have seen in the mortgage industry?

"Staying current on market trends and a constantly changing economic climate is challenging and important for guiding the homeowner through the entire lending process. The real benefit is having the unique opportunity to meet so many wonderful people and build long-term friendships."

What advice would you give people just entering the industry?

"Be approachable and do not be afraid to go out and build relationships with those in your community."

Do you have a quick tip for saving time, generating leads, tracking information, etc. that you would like to share?

"Organization is key!"

When you are not at work, what do you like to do most?

"Spending time with family and friends and watching my son in all of his sporting activities!"

What is a quote or a guiding principle you live by?

"Success is never owned; it is only rented and the rent is due every day." - Rory Vaden
